Innovation is the engine of growth and a key element of competitiveness. The ability of a country to produce an uninterrupted stream of new products and services is what really distinguishes dynamic and growing economies from stagnant ones. In this context, the creation of new ventures and its enabler - venture capital funding - play a critical role in ensuring that a country can sustain its living standards.

MP3, in collaboration with Action Institute, is pleased to invite you to the event “Financing Innovation: Venture Capital as a Development Driver. A Public-Private Partnership Solution” aimed at introducing our proposal for the creation of a public venture capital fund of funds to support the venture capital industry in Italy.

By drawing lessons from international best practices and success stories, the goal of the event is to create an informed debate among policy makers, entrepreneurs, academics, venture capitalists and investors. For this purpose we have put together a panel of experts, leaders in their respective fields, who are willing to share their knowledge and expertise with Italian decision makers and stakeholders.
